

THE MEN WHO WORE THE SHIELD

Who bore the flag to glory on many a stormy field?
We celebrate your victories and twine you greener bays,
For peace has wound her olive 'round the crowns of sterner days;
The splendor of your conquests casts a halo o'er the land,
And the hopes of lagging ages quicken at their wondering stand;
Though the slogan sounds no longer and the brazen tongues are sealed,
There is proud acclaim to shout your name, O men who wore the shield!

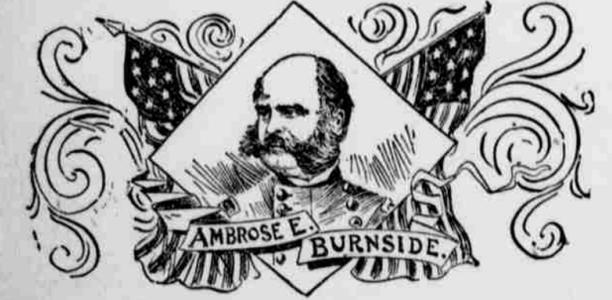

JOHN M. SCHOFIELD

O, I see the boyish faces kindling with the breath of Spring,
Turning from the nesting cottage with the sturdy rifle swing,
From the orchards pink with blossoms to the long and dusty way,
And the boyish eyes are glowing and the boyish steps are light,
And the Colonel wheels his horse to gaze, for 'tis a splendid sight,
And with uniforms like heaven's blue with heaven's stars revealed,
They mark the measures with their steps, the men who wore the shield.

JOHN W. FOSTER
SECY OF STATE '92

THEY are marching, proudly marching, but there's danger in the way,
And the fever springs as stealthily as a wolf upon his prey;
And the sudden shot is flying where the lurking demons hide,
And the dogs of war are growling and their reeking maws are wide,
Lo, the violet warms the pickets and the pickets warm the lines,
And the long roll roars and rumbles through the soughing sentry pines;
But the violet lips are fast and firm, their fealty is sealed,
For heaven the fight whose cause is right, the men who wore the shield.

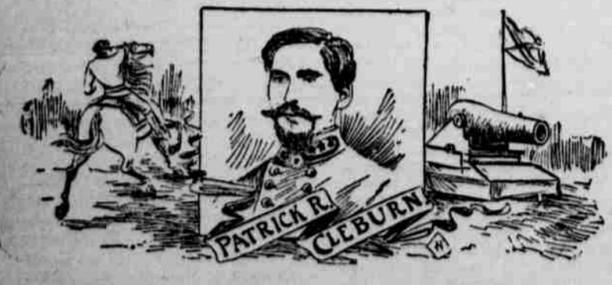

AMBROSE E. BURNSIDE

IN the Tennessee mountains, through the famine and the snow,
Round the slender lines of fate see the shivering heroes go,
And with frenzied eyes they're gazing for relief that never comes,
For the Cumberland encampment and there's death in Longstreet's guns
On the Clinch and on the Hoistain Burnside cheers his valiant men,
(Heads uncovered, for you loved him; he was proud to lead you then!)
And as oaks decay the tempest when the stormy trumps are pealed,
So they hold their heads to heaven, the men who wore the shield!

JACOB D. COX

FROM Lenoir and Campbell's Station, with their bare and bleeding feet,
They are falling back on Knoxville in the snow and in the sleet,
And the foeman plucks a column as a lion plucks the fold,
And they languish in the prison and they perish in the cold;
They are fighting in the trenches with the fiery Cleburn's men,
And he's riding to destruction while his columns cheer again;
Through the siege and through the sorrow of the long-contested field,
They are conquerors triumphant, the men who wore the shield.

PATRICK R. CLEBURN

THEY are perishing on Atlanta, and their boyish faces wear
All the grim determination of the men who do not dare;
They have shared the bold breast-plate, they've received the crimson seal
Graven on each furrowed forehead with the stylus of steel;
Down the ridges of Nevada, on the heights of Kenesaw,
On the monoliths of ages they have writ the Golden Law;
And the bells in all the steeples have the glorious peals pealed,
And the victor crowns are many for the men who wore the shield.

ALL, heroes under Foster! Hail, men who wore the shield!
Hail, conquerors who fought with Cox on many a sanguine field!
Hail, victors under Thomas, with the Stars and Stripes ahead!
Hail, to the honored living, hail to the valiant dead!
Hail, loyal ranks who rallied to the ringing reveille,
To keep the Union grand and great and ours from sea to sea!
Though the slogan sounds no longer and the brazen tongues are sealed,
There is proud acclaim to shout your name, O men who wore the shield!

CABLE CARS' AWFUL WORK.

Two are Dead and Seven Injured. A Gripman Has to Flee to Escap a Mob.

As the Eleventh Ward Republican Club was marching down Wylie avenue Saturday night, at Pittsburg, it was run into by a Central traction car No. 64, as a result of which Henry Able, aged 15, and Ward Ruffner, age 18, are dead, and seven others are injured. The accident occurred between Fulton and Townsend streets, where the street is very steep. The car had stopped at Arthur street and the marchers had commenced getting off the track, when it started again and plowed into their ranks. Able and Ruffner were caught under it and many others were knocked aside.

There was an immense crowd, and when they realized what was done, there was a perfect storm of rage against the gripman and threats of lynching him were made. He broke through the crowd and escaped and the people turned their attention to the youths under the car. They would have been saved alive had not car 51 come on down the track, striking 64 and driving it over them. Able was instantly killed, and both of Ruffner's legs were cut off. He died soon after.

The others injured are Henry Switzer, Frank W. Zillmer, Joseph Maggold, Jr., John McIlveen, Joseph McIlveen, Robert K. Ginniff, and Albert Kirk. They will all recover.

A great procession, formed by the learned professions, students and scientists, marched before the statue, where orations were delivered and poems recited in honor of the discoverer. Numerous public-spirited citizens made large appropriations of food and drink for the needy, and everybody was given a chance at the merry making. FIGURING THE RESULTS.

Forecast of the Presidential Election Made by Both Sides.

There will be 444 votes in the next Electoral College, and 223 will be necessary to a choice. At National Democratic Headquarters, New York, they estimate that the Democratic National ticket will get not less than 245 electoral votes. This is counting on the 15 votes of Indiana. If that state goes Republican the Democrats will have 230 votes, according to their calculations, seven more than required.

A table based on the reports received at the Democratic headquarters gives the following as their expected result of the election:

INDICTED FOR TREASON.

True Bills Returned Against the Advisory Committee. The Carnegie and Pinkerton Officials Were Also Indicted for Murder, Aggravated Riot and Conspiracy.

The Grand Jury at Pittsburg returned true bills in the treason cases against the Homestead strikers, and also in the murder, conspiracy and aggravated riot cases against the Carnegie officials and Pinkerton detectives.

The indictments for treason involve 31 defendants, all of whom are strikers or members of the advisory board.

The charges of murder against H. C. Frick and other Carnegie officials are for the killing of George W. Rutter, John E. Morris, Joseph Sotgiu and Silas Wayne, whose deaths resulted from the riot. The true bills are against H. C. Frick, F. T. F. Lovejoy, Robert Pinkerton, William Pinkerton, J. A. Potter, W. S. Corey, J. G. A. Leishman, C. W. Fishell, W. H. Burr, John Cooper, F. W. Hinde, Nevin McConnell and James Dovey.

In the conspiracy cases Frick, George Lauder, H. M. Curry, Leishman, Olin, Chas. Lovejoy, L. C. Phillips, G. A. Corey, J. A. Potter, J. F. Dovey, McConnell, the Pinkertons, Cooper, Fishell, Frederick Primer, Burr and Hinde are indicted.

In the aggravated riot cases true bills are returned against Frick, Curry, Leishman, Lovejoy, L. C. Phillips, Dovey, Metcalf, Cooper, Fishell, Primer, Burr and Hinde.

The indictment in the treason cases, and referring to their treasonable offenses, says: "And in order to fulfill and to bring into effect the said traitorous compassings, imaginings and intentions of them, the said defendants on the 5th of September, 1892, and on divers other days and times, between the 1st day of June and on the 5th day of September at the borough of Homestead, with other persons, whose names are to the said inquest unknown, to the number of 1,000 and upward, armed and arrayed in a hostile manner, that is to say with guns, revolvers, cannon, swords, knives, clubs, dynamite bombs, and other warlike and deadly weapons, as well offensive as defensive, being then and there feloniously, unlawfully, maliciously and traitorously assembled and gathered together, did feloniously and traitorously join and assemble themselves together against the said Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and then and there, with force and arms, feloniously, unlawfully, falsely and traitorously, in a hostile manner, that is to say with guns, revolvers, cannon, swords, knives, clubs, dynamite bombs, and other warlike and deadly weapons, to wit, the said persons whose names are to the said inquest unknown, contrary to the duty of allegiance and fidelity of the said defendants, to the evil example of all others in like cases offending, contrary to the form of the act of the General Assembly in such cases made and provided, and against the peace and dignity of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania."

"And the inquest aforesaid do further present that the said defendants, on the 5th day of September, 1892, at the county aforesaid, and within the jurisdiction of this Court, with force and arms, feloniously and traitorously did levy war against the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, contrary to their allegiance to the said Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, to the evil example of all others in like cases offending, contrary to the form of the act of the General Assembly in such cases made and provided, and against the peace and dignity of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania."

The indictment against H. C. Frick and others in the murder cases are separate, making four in all.

The indictment against the Carnegie officials in the conspiracy cases is a lengthy document. Among other things it sets forth concerning H. C. Frick and the others named:

"That they did unlawfully, falsely and maliciously conspire, combine, confederate and agree together to depress, lower, lessen and diminish wages, price and compensation of labor of divers persons employed by the Carnegie Steel Company, Limited, to them and there close up the said steel manufactory, and to cease work and operations therein, and thereupon to convey, and cause to be sent 200 men and upward, armed with guns, revolvers, pistols, knives, and other deadly weapons, to intimidate, terrify and frighten divers persons in the said township of Millfin, who were then lately before employed by the said Carnegie Steel Company, to invade the said township of Millfin and to attack the said persons who were then lately before employed, and to shoot off and discharge the said guns and other deadly weapons, against the bodies of the said persons who were then lately before employed by the said Carnegie Steel Company, Limited."

In regard to the fight on the morning of July 6th, the bill says, the defendants "did counsel and advise the shooting."

The bill in the aggravated riot cases against the Carnegie officials differ very little from that in the conspiracy action, except that it specifies that in pursuance to the alleged conspiracy, the alleged unlawful and riotous acts were committed.

—DEMOCRATS WIN AT CHATTANOOGA.

Chattanooga, Tenn., elected seven Democrats out of eight Aldermanic candidates, securing control of the city government for the first time in the city's history.

A Home-sad Paper Admits Defeat for the Strikers.

Editor Schooley of the Homestead, Pa., Local News, which paper had been considered the organ of the advisory board, surprised the strikers by publishing the following opinion:

"The Homestead situation to-day is a peculiar one. On one hand the spectacle is presented of over 2,000 workmen in the mill, among who are about 200 of the former Homestead employees. A number of skilled workmen from Bradock, Duquesne, Pittsburg and other places are among the non-union workmen. The non-union workmen now live in and about the works, and within the borough of Homestead. Nobody denies these facts. If they do they are blind. That the company has won is admitted by many business men and citizens, large numbers of mechanics, prominent Amalgamated men and certain members of the advisory board. These admissions are, as a rule, confidential, but none the less true. On the other hand the spectacle is presented of between two and three thousand idle workmen walking the streets of Homestead, keeping up the expectation that sooner or later they will win the strike. The only result the strikers can show is that they are keeping themselves well in line, and are causing the steel firm loss and trouble. The candid observer can come to the following conclusions only:

"First—The Carnegie Steel Company is gradually succeeding.

"Second—The great Homestead strike is dying out."

Colorado's Big Snow Storm.

Several trains are overdue, and their whereabouts are unknown.
